Commissioner of Education De-

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—California pays each year $12.66 per pupil more for maintaining her public schools than Massachusetts, ranked as second in educational matters among the States of the Union. California ranked fourth, Washington is first, and

New York also in advance of her, The

in advance of Massachusetts, according to the compilation of Will C.

Wood, Commissioner of Education, who has made an extended study of the local situation to answer the question, "Are the schools costing too much?"

"It will be observed, however," says Commissioner Wood, "that the percentage of increase in California is almost twice as large as in Massachusetts. The expense of maintaining a rapidly growing school system is greater than in a moderately growing school system. Another important reason for the difference is found in the distribution of population."

The cost per pupil in California is $16.94 per year, against Massachusetts' $4.78.

XXVTH YEAR.

WEYANT PUZZLE NEARS SOLUTION

Here, Believe Search of Quarter Century Ended.

Cues to Mystery of Death Under Supposed Alias.

Action may Follow on Suit for a Million.

Harvey Weyant.

The veil of mystery enshrouding the disappearance of the late Harvey Weyant, who left his home in Springfield, Mass., and is alleged to have been a wife and six children less than a quarter of a century ago, has been lifted, following a twenty-year search by the widow and her sons, who live at No. 580 Second street, this city.

According to King Weyant, one of the sons, it has now been established that his father died in Salt Lake five years ago under the assumed name of Harvey W. Fuller, and left an estate of approximately $1,000,000. In order to locate some of the property, Mr. Weyant and his brothers enlisted several thousand letters from the country. Through these letters they believe they have reached the heart of the mystery.

Mr. Weyant, on behalf of his children, has filed suit in District Court of Salt Lake to recover their alleged shares in the estate of Harvey Weyant, who she claimed was her legal husband, but who, further alleged, deserted her and is still alive with another woman. The action is directed against Mrs. Morgan, alias Rosella Fuller, who is alleged to have been the wife of Harvey Weyant.

The complaint sets forth that the husband disappeared in 1891, taking $40,000, and was possessed by the family, who believed that he went to Utah under the name of Fuller. Allegations are made that he died in July, 1901, and that she now has received $1,000,000. The complaint also alleges that until recently she did not know the identity of her husband, but that she now believes that he was in reality her husband. Allegations are made that her children are entitled to the estate, and that the children are entitled to the estate.

REMARKABLE SEARCH. More than twenty-five years ago, Mr. Weyant left his home in the city of Springfield, Mass., and went to Salt Lake, where he was engaged in business. He was alleged to have been a wife and six children less than a quarter of a century ago, and was possessed by the family, who believed that he went to Utah under the name of Fuller.

NATHAN STRAUS HERE.

Noted Philanthropist, Accompanied by Wife Reaches Los Angeles After Long Journey Across Continent Due to Heavy Storms.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Straus arrived in Los Angeles on the Southern Pacific at 11:25 o'clock last night, after a delay of several days on their trip from New York, due to the recent storms.

The noted philanthropist and his wife left the East on the 9th inst., and according to their plans will probably visit several cities in Southern California before returning to their home. Mr. and Mrs. Straus spent the night in their special car, which was parked near the Southern Pacific station.

Mr. Straus, superintendent of the service elevator at the Alexandria closed unexpectedly yesterday morning, just as Joe Brounsett was starting the machine. It jammed his leg, mashing it fearfully. Brounsett fainted. Fortunately the elevator stopped without dragging him.

"Doc" Bassett, superintendent of service, called an ambulance and hurried Brounsett to his home. He appeared dazed. A physician was called. Mr. Bassett returned to the hotel and put a new man on the elevator.

Three hours later, he entered the elevator and was astounded to see Brounsett operating it. For a moment he thought it was a ghost, but Brounsett assured him that everything was all right.

"You see, that was a cork leg that got smashed," he said. "The accident this morning brought back so vividly my original accident that I fainted and came back by the time I reached home. Then I put on my reserve leg and came back to work."

Novel. SUES FOR HIS RANSOM. American Arrested for Killing Mexican Soldier at Tia Juana and Let Go After He Pays $5000 World Recorder.

A novel sequel to the arrest of Roy B. Hull of Pasadena, charged with killing a Mexican soldier at Tia Juana and his liberation upon the payment of $5000, is Mr. Hull's suit filed yesterday against Esteban Cantu, Governor of Lower California, to recover the money. The suit, it is alleged, was paid to Cantu, an agent of the Governor's, and virtually amounted to a ransom.

Funds on deposit in the Calceco National Bank National First National Bank of Calceco have been attached. It is stated by Attorneys Gurney E. Newlin and George M. Martin, representing Mr. Hull, that the money was paid to Cantu, an agent of the Governor's, and virtually amounted to a ransom.

FOR JEWISH WAR SUFFERERS. Members of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association held a meeting last night in the 27th inst. for the Jewish sufferers in the European war zone. Many young women in the association announced that they will give office buildings and residences on that day in their efforts to obtain money for the $10,000 fund which is expected to be raised in this city.

REGISTER FOR REFERENDUM. Names on Great Register Eligible on Ballots Only Since January One.

Only those persons who register during the first three months of this year will be eligible to sign the proposed referendum petitions which will soon be in circulation. Since the fact became known that a concerted effort will be made to call an election for the purpose of defeating the nonpartisan amendment passed at the extra session of the Legislature many have expressed the opinion that those whose names appear on the great register of 1915 are entitled to sign the petitions.

"There is no question about the voters who will be eligible to sign them. They must register, as the last Great Register cannot be applied," said Registrar McAleer.

Records of registration up to last night showed a total of nearly 100,000 with the Republicans far in the lead. There are nearly 900 registration deputies in the field and the aggregate of eligible voters is swelling every day.

CHARON YIELDS NOT TO PRAYER.

Woman Wooes Death and then Cannot Repulse It.

Tourist's Dramatic End in Big Downtown Store.

Dying, She Moans that Little Boy's Slain, Too.

Although after the lethal draught had passed her throat, she sought desperately to retract her steps to the grave's edge, Mrs. Ruth Ferrin, a handsome and well-dressed matron of 28, killed herself late yesterday afternoon in the women's parlor of a downtown department store by swallowing large quantities of bichloride of mercury and carbolic acid. A remarkable feature of the tragedy was that the conflicting acid and base poisons acted as an instant emetic, and for a short time appeared she would recover.

Her weak physical condition, however, prevented a sufficient rally, and Mrs. Ferrin died a short time later in the Receiving Hospital.

A sister, Miss Virginia Alexander, and a small crippled son, James, 7 years old, were notified at the Ferrin home, No. 214 West Park avenue, Eagle Rock. Miss Alexander became hysterical and, taking her small nephew with her, rushed to the But-ton morgue, where the body had been removed. For an hour the young woman called appealingly to the dead woman, demanding that she return from death and tell why she had sought it.

J. S. Ferrin, the husband and father, is in Socorro, N. M. He was notified and will hurry to Los Angeles. Two weeks ago he kissed his wife and son good-by and sent them, in care of the sister, to Los Angeles. Mrs. Ferrin, suffering from nervousness, and it was thought she would recover here.

The big store was beginning to empty its crowds into Broadway yesterday afternoon preparatory to closing its doors for the day. Miss Hampton, the trained nurse employed in the store and kept continuously in the women's retiring room, was preparing to leave when she heard strange sounds and moans coming from a closet. She tried the door to see if she could be of any assistance, but it was locked.

The woman inside was evidently suffering terrible pain, so Miss Hampton summoned the store physician and with his aid broke in the door. Mrs. Ferrin, who was inside, had just fainted.

As quickly as possible she was hurried to the Receiving Hospital. For a few minutes she regained consciousness and cried out weakly: "Why did I do it? I don't want to die. Why did I do it?" she sobbed. Because she had been overheard to mean that her little boy had been given a deadly poison, also, much anxiety was felt for his safety. Deputy Sheriff Cleveland hurried to Eagle Rock, but found the boy as well as might be expected after hearing of his mother's death.

HEATER BLOWS UP. Three Barbers Scaled by Steam When Pipes Burst.

Muddy water clogging the pipes of a water heater in a barber shop at No. 122 West Fourth street, yesterday, caused an explosion that scaled three men. The victims, Lugnie McNeely, Henry White and George Cummings, were caught in the steam cloud that raged from the boiler. The steam blinded the men, who struggled to find their way through which to escape.

They were taken to the Receiving Hospital. None was seriously injured. The noise of the explosion attracted neighbors, who came to the aid of the barbers.

Hanlon Heading. DAM IS DYNAMITED TO RELEASE THE COLORADO.

Dam dynamited to release flood water, at Hanlon Heading, on the Colorado River. The destruction, the necessity for which was anticipated from the beginning, was wrought at the request of the United States government.

TO RELEASE the flood waters of the swollen Colorado River and avert the danger of a possible inundation of the surrounding territory the big dam at Hanlon Heading in the Imperial Valley was blown up by dynamite Wednesday, according to a telegram received yesterday by Col. W. H. Holabird, for the California Development Company, from J. C. Allison. The dynamiting was done at the request of the government.

MAMMOTH NEW HOTEL BUILDING IS ASSURED.

FINAL papers in a deal which will mean another immense hotel for Los Angeles were signed yesterday afternoon. Torrance, Marshall & Co. have leased the Home Builders' property at the corner of Spring, Main and Eighth streets to A. Fred Way of Salt Lake City and will erect for him a twelve to fourteen-story hotel costing close to $1,000,000.

From a structural standpoint, the site of the hotel will be one of the best of any in the city, facing as it does on three streets. This exterior exposure of rooms is one always in greatest demand by the traveling public. The man who is to have the operation of the house is one of the best-known hotel men in the West.

Mr. Way has operated a number of hotels in Salt Lake for the past thirty years and has been successful in all of these ventures. At the present time he owns the lease of the Pine Crest Inn, a tourist resort in Emigrant Canyon, near Salt Lake. He is also co-proprietor of the new Wilson Hotel and is vice-president of the Rocky Mountain Hotel Men's Association.

The completion of this lease on the local property has required several months of investigation and planning. The Home Builders' property was originally financed by Torrance, Marshall & Co., who floated a $400,000 bond issue on the lot and the preliminary work on the office structure. To complete the building, they have negotiated a second bond loan for $600,000, according to current information.

A firm of local architects has been at work on the plans for more than a month and these have practically been finished. They call for a structure reaching the height limit allowed by the present building laws. Every detail of construction is to be of the best. The house will contain approximately 450 rooms.

Mr. Way has not yet announced his plan of operation, but has intimated that the house will be conducted on the European plan. It will be furnished at a cost of about $150,000. Bids for the contracts will be advertised within two weeks and every effort will be made to complete the structure before January 1, 1917.

STRONG HANDS AT THE HELM.

M. and M. Association Holds its Annual Election.

E. G. Judah, New President, Firm for Open Shop.

Optimism Prevails, Prosperous Year Predicted.

E. G. Judah is to direct the activities of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, as its president, during the ensuing year. The annual election was held at the offices of the association in the Wilcox Building yesterday afternoon. The result was the following roster of officers:

President, E. G. Judah; first vice-president, H. W. Bryson; second vice-president, G. Burkett Logan; secretary, F. J. Zeeland; treasurer, Marco H. Newmark.

The board of directors now stands: Robert Baer, H. W. Bryson, W. E. Bush, Earl Cowan, R. A. Fowler, E. A. Geisler, Markon R. Gray, E. G. Judah, G. Burkett Logan, R. A. McCourt, M. R. Newmark, H. B. Woodhill, F. J. Mullen, Fred A. Detmers and Leo Jacoby.

At yesterday's meeting the association gave its indorsement to the national orange day, and appointed H. W. Bryson as the chairman for the association for this event. A vote of thanks was given to the retiring president, W. E. Bush. Fifteen new members were elected. The board discussed the general business situation and the newly-elected president outlined his policies. A general spirit of optimism prevailed and there were frequent prophecies for a prosperous year in California.

THE NEW PRESIDENT. Mr. Judah has been a resident of Los Angeles for twenty-five years, having come here from New York. He said yesterday that about the nearest thing he had ever done was to sell the return portion of his round-trip ticket to a man here who went back to New York and has since remained there. "He was cheated, no matter what he paid for that return portion," said Mr. Judah.

He is president of the E. G. Judah Company, and general representative of the Paraffine Paint Company, Nos. 2260 to 2212 South Main. He was a concern employing 150 people. For four years he has been a director in the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

"My purpose through the ensuing year is to do the best I can for the association," said Mr. Judah.

Mines for the purpose were laid when the big dam was first constructed and it merely required the touching of an electric button to send the thousands of cubic yards of stone and gravel into the air and release into the natural channel the accumulation of water in the backwater district.

By yesterday morning the entire dam had been swept away without damage to either the Arizona or the California side.

Dramatic Soprano in "Carmen"

Clune's Auditorium Tonight

—Miss Gentle, who will sing the title role in Carmen tonight at Clune's Auditorium, is without question the greatest "Carmen" since the wondrous Collamarina. She possesses a beautiful voice of velvety quality and those who hear this talented artist are assured of a real musical treat.

—"Cavalleria Rusticana" and "La Tosca" are also two of her successes in which she will be heard Tuesday evening, January 25; Thursday evening, January 27, in "La Tosca" and Saturday evening, January 29, in "Cavalleria Rusticana."

—Miss Gentle indorses the Chickering piano and is highly pleased with it, as her letters will indicate.

Gentlemen: Whenever the subject of pianos is discussed, I have observed that the world famous Chickering is always favorably mentioned because of its superior tonal qualities and faultless action. It has been my good fortune to know Chickering quality for years past, and in all my experience I have yet to find a better instrument.

Cordially yours, Alice Gentle.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.
 CHIEF DEVELOPMENTS YESTERDAY.
 (At Home.) A tremendous dividend amounting to $4,000,000 was declared yesterday by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, being the first in its history on the common stock. It amounted to $30 a share and is payable in quarterly installments. Prior to the war Bethlehem was almost unknown as a stock, but according to report the company has earned almost 100 per cent. on its common stock during 1915. In 1907 it sold as low as $5 a share and is now quoted at $40.
 (For particulars see financial pages.)

PUNCTUALITY.
 This is a very punctual universe. No star is ever late. The person who cannot be on time is always dilatory at someone else's expense.

THE ART OF BUYING.
 The art of buying is paying the right price for the right thing in the right quantity at the right time. Few of us attain this ideal, but we all think we are brilliant buyers.

SOUNDS BOGUS.
 We are much afraid that this Ignatius Lincoln is not a reality and true spy as he so volubly insists himself to be. Great international spies are seldom persistent advertisers of their own intentions.

THE BRITISH SKULL.
 Philologists declare the British skull is changing its shape. Since the average Britisher was not prepared to admit that there was any room for improvement, can this mean that it is changing for the worse?

JUST THEIR STYLE.
 We do not imagine that the eighty boys residing at the George Junior Republic at Chino particularly minded being imperiled by the flood. No boy ever yet objected to an adventure, except the one that he missed.

ANOTHER QUESTION.
 Another vice commission has made a report to the effect that poverty is responsible for white slavery. Now that this question is settled, will the commission kindly fix the responsibility for the white slave play?

DUMMING UP TRADE.
 On the first train that opened communication between Berlin and Constantinople were the presidents of all of the German and Austro-Hungarian Chambers of Commerce. This sounds more like a business campaign than like war.

UNRAVE AT LARGE.
 A lady asks that her marriage be annulled because her husband already had twelve living wives from whom he was not divorced when he led her to the altar. This is a case not for the divorce court but for a lunacy inquest, as far as the man is concerned.

NOT THEIR DAY.
 Those night riders in Missouri are receiving the right sort of medicine when they are given penitentiary sentences. The day of the Ku Klux and the White Caps has been over for fifty years. It never lasted long in the first place.

HE MIGHT RESENT IT.
 Carranza invites the public to kill Pancho Villa. Anybody is welcome to shoot Villa on sight. All we have to say is that the man who undertakes this would do well not to think twice before he shoots once. Also he would better not let Villa catch him at it.

VICE AT TIA JUANA.
 California, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, all of them States in which the poolroom, the faro game and the roulette tables were once flourishing and almost recognized industries, have been for years free from these traps for the unwary. In Los Angeles even private poker games have been raided out of existence by our vigilant police.

But vice dies hard; the suckers, one of whom is born every day, abound in this Southland as elsewhere. Newspaper warnings are thrown away upon them; they seem determined to be divested of their coin, and in order to aid them a syndicate of Los Angeles and San Diego gamblers have established alleged horse races at Tia Juana (Mexican for Aunt Jane) a small town just over the border in Lower California, about twenty miles below San Diego, with which city it is connected by rail.

These races—so-called—are held, not to exhibit the speed of horses, but as a basis merely for poolrooms where the running of the animals is recorded and telegraphed to the poolroom agencies all over the Coast.

These poolrooms, as well as the faro, roulette and crap games in Tia Juana have concessions from the authorities, or former authorities, of Lower California, which enables them to continue their nefarious business. The gambling games and the horse races are not even fairly conducted as such. They are what "the profession" calls "hogging" games.

The continued existence at our southern door of this den of vice is a shame and a disgrace which ought not to be permitted to continue. Strong representations have been made to President Carranza and he has promised to cancel all the gambling concessions now out and to issue orders for the suppression of horse racing at Tia Juana.

If he shall do this, and do it promptly, he will win golden opinions.

AN ABSURD IMMIGRATION LAW.
 During the administration of President Cleveland Congress passed an immigration bill prescribing a literacy test for alien immigrants and Mr. Cleveland vetoed it. A similar bill was passed during President Taft's administration and he vetoed it. The Sixty-third Congress renewed the effort and its measure was vetoed by Mr. Wilson.

Senator Dillingham of Vermont, not discouraged by this record of failures, has introduced an immigration bill which combines a percentage with a literacy test, and its friends are encouraged to believe that if it passes it will, unlike its predecessor, receive the approval of President Wilson.

The literacy test prescribed by the Dillingham bill is that: "After four months from the approval of this act all male aliens over 16 years of age, physically capable of reading, who cannot read the English language or some other language or dialect shall be excluded from admission to the United States. In the application of this provision, hereinafter called the reading test, such aliens shall be required to read not less than thirty nor more than forty words in ordinary use, printed in plainly legible type in such language or dialect as the alien in each case may designate."

The per centum clause of the bill limits the number of aliens who may be admitted in any year to 10 per centum of the number of persons of such nationality resident in the continental United States, Hawaii and Porto Rico at the time of the census of 1910.

The Commissioner-General of Immigration is required to issue and publish a monthly statement showing the maximum number who may be admitted during the current fiscal year, with the number already admitted, and when 75 per cent. of such maximum number have been admitted, such statement shall be issued weekly thereafter.

When the maximum number of aliens of any nationality shall have been admitted, all other aliens of such nationality who may apply for admission during the same fiscal year shall be excluded with certain exceptions.

No test, either literacy or per centum, is to be applied to immigrants from Central or South American countries, and exclusions for any cause are to be applied only to adult males.

The exemption of women and children from the literacy requirement is to encourage family immigration and restrict the influx of unmarried laborers, experience having demonstrated that this class of immigration is least desirable.

The object of the per centum clause is to restrict the immigration of undesirable who come mostly from Austria, Hungary, Greece, Italy and Southern and Eastern Europe. They are undesirable in that among them there is a larger number of anarchists, dynamiters, thieves, beggars and tramps than there is from the countries of North-western Europe.

The Dillingham bill provides that neither the literacy nor the per centum clause shall apply to aliens coming as actual agricultural settlers or aliens "coming to join a husband, wife, father, mother, son, daughter, grandfather, grandmother, grandson or granddaughter; aliens who are government officers, ministers or religious teachers, lawyers, physicians, chemists, engineers, teachers, students, authors, journalists, merchants, bankers, capitalists, professional artists, lecturers, singers or actors and aliens employed strictly as personal or domestic servants by admissible persons traveling to the United States."

In addition to the foregoing the Secretary of Labor may admit aliens in excess of the maximum number when, in his opinion, "such action is justifiable as a measure of humanity."

The exceptions to the exclusions seem to make of the whole law a good deal of a farce. It is difficult to comprehend why an illiterate father or grandfather over 55 years of age of an admissible or admitted alien should be suffered to come into the country when, if only 14 years of age, he would be excluded. It is not clear that a Turkish lawyer unable to speak English would add to the talent of the American bar, or a Montenegrin physician who could not write a prescription, or an Austrian chemist who could not read one, or a Russian locomotive engineer who could not give an intelligible order to his fireman, would be an especially desirable addition to our population.

The exceptions to the exclusion law would permit the ex-mistress of a king to come in as a toe "artist" in salubrious performances, and Antonio Victor Emmanuel Solferino, accompanied by Wilhelm von Stinikbaki, to come in as "artists" who sing duets in praise of anarchy, bringing with them clothing full of fleas.

The admission of ministers or religious teachers is quite right—if they preach or teach the right brand of religion. A Russian rabbi with the Talmud under his arm; a Turkish dervish carrying the Koran; a Hindoo priest packing the Shastras; a Chinese teacher of the Analects of Confucius; a Japanese Shinto clergyman who gave instructions on the duty of worshipping your grandfather, and a Unitarian clergyman would all be turned back from Ellis Island for Christ's sake. A Holy Roller could not come in to compete with Billy Sunday, or a Holy Jumper to run in opposition to Billy Bryan.

But a man who was ignorant of the three "R's"—reading, riting and rithmetic—who could not play any instrument or dance any jig, who was neither the grandfather, father, son or husband of anybody here, and the percentage of whose race was already here, could come in if his intent in coming was to cultivate onions, or if he was a labor union organizer on a dynamite basis who appealed to the humanity of Gompers's man—Secretary of Labor Wilson.

DESERVES BETTER FORTUNE.
 Poor old Oscar Hammerstein is broke. This would not have seemed bad news to him or to anybody else twenty years ago, because he was always worth a million or in bankruptcy, and neither condition ever lasted long at a time. Now he is 67 and his fortunes have fallen him on every hand. His two strong, young sons both died within six weeks, his wife divorced him and he lost the great opera house that he built in London. He no longer has any heart for the fight. America owes this man a great debt for the music he has given it. Philadelphia made the greatest mistake in its musical career when it permitted Hammerstein to go to New York.

Logical Conclusion.

THE FERRIS FOLLY.

Of all the ill-considered and miscellaneous measures thus far presented in Congress, the "leasing" bill fathered by Representative Scott Ferris of the Sixth Oklahoma District is one of the worst. A similar bill was passed by the lower house of the Sixty-third Congress, but fortunately was defeated in the Senate, and it is hoped that the measure which passed the House on Tuesday last, and is now pending in the Senate, will meet with a similar fate.

If it becomes a law it will revolutionize the land policy of the government by establishing a system of leasing of water power sites, coal, oil, gas, sodium, potassium phosphate and all non-metallic minerals by putting an end to the right of citizens to acquire ownership of such lands. And while this would not interfere with the right of prospectors to acquire, by location and development, the ownership of gold, silver, copper, zinc, nickel, lead and platinum deposits, and of homesteaders to obtain agricultural lands, yet it would menace these rights for the future by the example it would set.

The Ferris leasing bill is aimed principally at water-power sites. Its purpose is hereafter to discontinue the acquisition of such sites by individuals or private corporations, and to make them a subject of revenue to the United States government by leasing them on very drastic and exacting terms.

If there is any merit at all in the Ferris plan it is clearly a case of locking the stable door after the horse has gone. Few people are aware of the enormous extent of water-power ownership in this country. According to a compilation of figures made by the United States Commissioner of Corporations in his report on water power developed in the United States the total amount of such power is 5,206,510 horse power.

Of this the State of New York leads with 799,300, and California is second with 722,125 horse power. One-third of the water power of New York is derived from Niagara, and one-fourth of the water power of California is used in Los Angeles by the Pacific Light and Power Company and the Southern California Edison Company.

The first serious assault upon the system governing water-power rights, which has existed ever since the formation of this government, was made during the last Congress by Gifford Pinchot and his gang. They proposed that Congress should empower the Secretary of War to lease water-power rights on navigable streams. This was promptly squelched by showing that, under the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, the government of the United States had no power over the waters of navigable streams except to preserve them for the purpose of navigation; that the right to use the waters—so as not to obstruct navigation—for the generation of power—electrical or otherwise—belonged to the riparian owner of the bank, subject to regulation by the State, where, by the laws of the State, the use of electricity for power, for lighting and for heating was held to be a public utility.

Defeated in his attempt in the last Congress to turn existing companies from owners into lessees of their property, Congressman Ferris of Oklahoma, a State from whose streams only 1758 horse power has been developed, is the author and ferocious advocate of a measure to compel the United States government to never again part with the title to a single dam site on the public lands, but to lease them for a period of time not exceeding fifty years (to deserving Democrats) with a right of the government to revoke the lease at any time for good cause shown (such, for instance, as a change of politics on the part of the lessee).

Mr. Ferris, in a speech made in the House of Representatives January 5, said that his bill provided that the Federal government should at all times maintain its paramountcy and full control; that annual reports should be exacted from the power companies, so that the public might at all times know of their acts and doings; that the Federal government should reserve to itself full power to fix rates for service, capitalization, bond issues, and so forth, in interstate projects and where there is no public utility commission for this purpose in interstate projects; that each lease, permit or consent of Congress should contain a provision that upon proof that any such permittees, lessees or grantees have conspired to prevent the development of water power or to limit the output of already constructed plants the lease should be revocable in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Under the Ferris law it is difficult to state what a lessee of a power site would really get by a lease, or if he would get anything except the blessed privilege of paying rent to a landlord whose slave he will in a business way become.

It is proposed by the Ferris law to withdraw from acquisition under existing laws all public lands bordering on navigable or unnavigable streams and "conserve" the same for leasing to favored individuals so as to produce a revenue to the United States.

The leasing bill itself is filled with exceptions, reservations and right of government control calculated to discourage applications for leasing.

Section 4 provides that without the written consent of the Secretary of the Interior the lessee or power development company shall not sell or deliver power to a distributing company except in case of an emergency, and then only for a period not exceeding thirty days. It further provides that the lease shall not be assignable or transferable without the written consent of the Secretary of the Interior.

Section 5 provides for the retaking of the property at the expiration of the lease. In such retaking the Secretary shall not allow for increase in value of non-perishable property, but shall deduct for decrease in value in perishable property.

Section 6 lays down the three specific things that the Federal government can do at the expiration of any lease made under this act. First, the Federal government may retake it and operate it itself; second, it may renew the lease to the original lessee upon such terms and conditions and for such term as may be authorized under the then existing applicable laws; third, the Secretary of the Interior, upon the expiration of the lease, may lease the property of the original lessee to a new lessee upon such new conditions, new terms, and for such new periods of time as the applicable laws of that date authorize.

What course would the Secretary take with a lessee who did not sell but used in his own business the electrical power that he generated? If he ran a sawmill with it, would the Secretary fix the prices at which he must sell boards and scantling? If he ran a grist mill, would the Secretary watch the wheat market and telegraph him every week how much he must charge for flour? If he used the power in his canning factory, would it be the duty of the Secretary to set the prices for canned milk or canned peaches?

If the Senate—where debate is allowed—should be induced to pass this bill what a triumph it would be for Pinchot. A company leasing a power site from the government and paying it a rental, and with a government inspector poking his meddlesome nose into its books, and subject to have its entire business directed by a Secretary of the Interior at Washington, a company could never compete with a power company operating its own plant, in its own way, on its own land, and the owners of existing power plants might get together under Pinchot's direction and force the lessees of the government out of business.

HOW DUSTY!

BY CHARLES COKE WOODS.

How dusty it would be if it never rained. Nobody enjoys the breathing of dust and dirt. We have not been troubled much with dust in these parts lately. The fact is the dust has been settled for several days. Our folks have been busy, but nobody has kicked up much of a dust. Our neighbors have been peaceable and nobody has been throwing dust in his neighbor's eyes.

Well, we all enjoy a good shower now and then. It agrees with the system. We all breathe too much dust when it is dry all the time. Microbes and germs are apt to do damage through the deadly dust. We ought none of us to worry because it is not dry and dusty. It was once, and we wished it would rain. Never mind; it will be dusty again some day and we shall all be thinking then of this dank and dewy weather.

Of course we have all read "Pollyanna." If not, everybody in town should go right down to the library today and get it. It has much to say about playing "The Glad Game." If somebody sends you a pair of crutches, be glad. Why? Because you do not need them. If someone should send you a glass eye for a birthday present, be glad. Wherefore? Because you do not need a glass eye. You have two good eyes. Then if your head aches, be glad because you have a head to ache.

Say, folks, our troubles go a glimmering when we play the "Glad Game." "The most of the troubles I've ever had, were blessings in disguise; and that out of this will grow good."

Were made by the specs on my eyes."

We were in a big bookstore the other day. A friend called us over to the counter and showed us a book which he said was all slush excepting one single sentence which stood at the head of a chapter. The sentence was, "What if you do own a grouch, there is no use keeping it in the show window." But some folks are grouchy enough to scare all the song birds from the trees. We saw a humming bird the other day hunting honey among the roses right in the midst of a driving rain. He was as happy as a meadow lark in a clover meadow on a sunny day. He was an optimist. As long as that humming bird keeps on hunting honey he will never grow grouchy with the grouch. Neighbors, let us hunt for the honey among the roses in the rain.

"This life is not all sunshine. Nor yet is it all showers; But storms and calms alternate, As storms among the flowers."

We were going over on the electric from Pasadena to Los Angeles. We spoke a word to the man in the seat in front of us about the singing of the mocking bird. He shook us by saying roughly, "Yes, but if you lived where I do you would throw stones at them." He went on to tell us that he slept out of doors and that there was a mocking bird in a nearby tree that sang all night. "What would you do if a bird kept you awake all night by its singing?" This was the question that the man scribbled at us. Well, wasn't the bird out of doors first. Didn't the whole out of doors belong to the bird? Why should a bird's singing in a treetop bother a full-grown man? With that sort of temper a man might drive all the songs out of life. He might drive all the song out of his heart if he ever had any in it. It seems to us that if a man had the right sort of attitude toward God's out-of-doors the bird song ought to lull him to sleep when the evening shadows fall. How much more this poor, sorry man would have gotten out of life by playing the "Glad Game."

This is the way that James Whitcomb Riley plays the glad game, and we would all do well to play it with him—"Oh, heart of mine, we shouldn't worry so; What we've missed of calm we couldn't have, you know; And what we've missed of stormy pain, And of sorrow's driving rain, We can better meet again— If it blow."

"We have erred in that dark hour we have known, When our tears fell with the shower all alone; Were not shine and shadow blend, As the gracious Master meant, Let us temper our content— With His own."

"For we know not every tomorrow can be sad; Then forgetting all the sorrows we have had, Let us fold away our fears, And put by our foolish tears, And through all the coming years— Just be glad."

Life's Gentler Side—Society, Music, Song and the Dance—The Theatre

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

MRS. C. MONTAGU WARD has just completed the plans for a future bungalow—unique in point of interior decoration and finish and artistic as to lines—which Francis Marion Terry is to have built in San Pedro soon for Mrs. Terry and their charming young daughter. The entire lower floor is to be the last word in modernity, all black and white, and the family will take possession at the earliest possible moment.

Mrs. Ward's large list of intimate friends have long known of her cleverness apart from her social routine, and are most anxious to have a glimpse at the fruition of her ability in the building of the new home—an interest in which the friends of the Terry's share largely.

Dinner and Music. Mrs. G. Wiley Wells of the Derby Hotel, entertaining her guests including Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Tolhurst, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Stanton, Judge and Mrs. J. W. Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Froum. Later a musical was enjoyed, which was arranged by Mrs. W. J. Dodd. The artists were Madame Pike and Miss Lockhart, assisted by the Messrs. Adler. Others entertaining dinner guests were, Mrs. Grace Porter, Miss Ines Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Clark, having at their table Mrs. John Percival Jones, Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee and Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Brunswig.

For the Coming Week. Mrs. Wheaton A. Gray of Kingsley drive is to entertain at a dinner-bridge the evening of Wednesday, the 26th inst. The gracious hostess frequently extends to different coteries of friends her hospitality either at dinner or luncheon, with cards as a delightful after diversion.

Six at Dinner. Mrs. George F. Wilson, formerly of Chicago, who has made her home at the Beverly Hills Hotel for several years, entertained at dinner last night, preliminary to the bowling tournament which was engaging the attention of the guests. At Mrs. Wilson's pretty table were Mr. and Mrs. A. J.

Tausig and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Straub of Beverly Hills.

Musical Tea. For the tea and musical which Mrs. Glenn Milton Hammon is giving tomorrow afternoon at Howell Terrace, No. 1124 West Seventh street, the hostess will be assisted by Mrs. H. Barton, Mrs. A. C. Caster, Mrs. H. Hill, Mrs. A. N. Sanford, Mrs. L. F. Miller, Mrs. Walter F. Rath, Mrs. J. D. Miles, Mrs. P. H. Johnson, Miss Ruth Ahlweide, Miss Gertrude Brainerd and Miss Schiltgen. Receiving with Mrs. Hammon will be her sister, Mrs. Sanford S. Vaughan of Chicago.

The musical programme will be presented by Miss Ina Goodwin, a pupil of Godowsky, pianist-composer; Miss Lilla Fager, violinist, and Miss Clara de Knapikheva, vocalist—a trio of especially fine artists.

Informal Dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Bryer entertained at a delightfully appointed dinner at the Beverly Hills Hotel last Wednesday night. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Allan B. Rogers of Denver and Mr. and Mrs. Platt Rogers, Jr. of Los Angeles.

In the North. Mr. and Mrs. Grover T. Garland have been in Portland for a few days, guests at the Benson.

Sheridan-Cross.

Last Sunday afternoon was chosen by Miss May Cross and M. P. Sheridan for their marriage, which was solemnized by Rev. H. B. Spady at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Cooper of No. 418 East Sixty-fourth street. Mr. E. Cross gave his daughter in marriage, the service being said beneath a canopy of ferns from which was suspended a large floral bell in pink. The same decorations were observed throughout the house. Enchanting decorations being abundantly employed in showers. Unusually lovely was the bride, in her sheer veil, well weathered in orange blossoms falling gracefully over her gown of white crepe de chine and rare old lace. Her shower bouquet was of Enchantress carnations. Miss Grace Cooper and Clair Sternberg, her cousins, in frocks of pink and white, were her flower-girl attendants. For breakfast, which followed, pink also predominated, the confections, wedding cake, nut cups and ices all carrying out the dainty color scheme. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cross, parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cooper, uncle and aunt, in addition to a limited number of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan will reside at No. 236 Ocean avenue, Terminal Island, in one of the groom's property, recently decorated and furnished for his bride.

Fingering Finery.

AMONG THE STORES AND AMIDST THE SHOPS.

Down Our Dazzling Streets, where Dame Fashion's Shopping is Done.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

Now is the time to buy. Grapefruit, which is cheap and plentiful. The prudent housewife will for the time being supply the table with this wholesome fruit, which will be especially welcome to the girls, since the rather bitter juices is said to be beneficial to the complexion.

If scarcity means favor in this case as in most, onions will soon be considered a delicacy. The crop is very limited and prices are soaring. This "fruit" may soon share honors with the alligator pear as a salad succulent. The aristocratic saurian pear is not more beneficial, despite the many praises lavished upon it by food experts.

An opportunity to replenish the table-linen closets will be found in that sale on lower Broadway, wherein prices are cut to lowest ebb for odd lots of table cloths and napkins of high quality.

Practical Suggestion. It would seem that the woman who has a knack at doing up the lace could find plenty of work. Anyone who has struggled with such articles, either to clean or mend, knows what a nuisance they are when short of time and of knowledge in such work, or who has attempted to have them done by ordinary methods will never be able to do so. There is an opening for such a profession in our city.

Opera Interests. On the first night of the opera I found myself interested in several matters other than the music taking place on the stage, although that was sufficiently interesting in itself, to be sure.

The real ermine cloak—more than fit for an Empress—which entered one of the boxes, divided honors with the diamonds in its vicinity, and the fact that all eyes were turned and followed two women in black evening gowns, proved once again that nothing is so becoming to the average woman as a black velvet, especially when so cut as to disclose white neck, bust and arms. While, perhaps, the rainstorm had relegated to the clothes press many of the hand-made costumes which had been intended for the occasion, there was a sufficiency of fine clothing present to draw forth the remark from a world traveler that Los Angeles women certainly did know how to dress.

I was interested too, in the chatter of two women behind me, to which I listened, although I was not a student of Los Angeles society and especially of its scandals. I wonder how people manage to keep themselves so busy without being themselves at all known? Probably this is one of the secrets of detective agencies which will never be disclosed even in the confessional. "That is Mrs. So-and-so—the one in pink! I think she is getting a divorce because she sees her without her husband, mostly, and other men seem to be paying her a lot of attention." This was a sample of the talk which dripped on and on throughout the evening. Like slow poison escaping into the atmosphere. No one of any prominence escaped the vitriolic hail. In front of us a woman who made it a point—an exclamation point, in fact—to turn with a seething look whenever a remark was made in even the remotest undertone. She gave me the impression of having paid a very high price for a lecture or so upon music appreciation, which she was determined to cash in by a display of absorbed interest—yet not too absorbed to know what was going on around her. This was rather amusing as she directed most of her snarling and demanding glances toward one of our party who happened to be a prima donna of world-wide reputation and a most appreciative musical critic, whose criticisms that evening were all commendatory. But these diversions did not deter me from spending a delightful evening—possibly the most enjoyable of my life—of humanity in all its phases. I begin to believe that perhaps there is no better place than at the opera in which to study life.

Little All Around. Little umbrellas, for little prices to use when little showers descend at little intervals—quite unexpectedly. It was in a corner store not five steps away from Broadway and such a crowd had sought refuge there during the rain that it was next to impossible to press one's way, away from any counter and as I stood, exasperating the rain, I discovered the cunningest umbrellas for the week-end possible price. I was alone in the discovery, for the girl was selling them as fast as she could hand them and the handles were pretty. Just the caper for little unexpected showers were these small umbrellas, although they were really intended for children's use.

The Moment's Modes. Butterfly combs are charming. Envelope pocketbooks are in high favor. The novelty laces suggest the Spanish. Bracelets are as much as ever in favor. Brussels laces, real, are always beautiful. Nothing like velvet for a knock-about hat. Peacock and other feather fans are in fashion. The new will be very much used on midseason dresses. A new striped wool alpaca prom dress, great success. Soft, colored leather is used for coats and bowties. Cape collars appear on some of the new sports suits. Suit-coat sleeves have a lot of fullness at the elbow. The bodies of the evening dress are merely a wide sash draped high around the body and supported by straps of tulle or the shoulders. Charming and inexpensive are the evening frocks made of white and a colored tulle combined. The skirt is very simple, being a full white skirt with the full overskirt of colored tulle. A novel and becoming way to trim a child's straight dress is to pretend to button it straight down both sides, from shoulder to bottom of hem, and set buttons close together with imitation buttonholes made of braid.

Necks and Arms. Collars high, collars low, collars medium. This is the call for the newest blouses. And when it comes to arms—to sleeves—they are setting up opposition to the skirts and if their mad scoring continues, they will by the time summer is well in swing, be as full in proportion to their abilities as are skirts.

"LA VIE DE BOHEME." LA SCALA COMPANY GIVES THE FAVORITE PUCCINI WORK.

By Edwin F. Schallert.

Sympathy, that elusive, penetrating, fundamental note in human existence, on which is woven the minor chord of love, joy and sorrow, sent forth its subtle, mysterious warmth through the medium of action and tone, as written in the Puccini score of "La Boheme," last night at Clune's Auditorium. Sympathy that unites in comradeship; sympathy that unites in the joy of living; sympathy that unites in love; sympathy that cannot understand the mystery of separation in death—the most beautiful, the most dangerous of all the elements in human life. There have been occasions in the past—in fact, it is more than certain there have been quite a few—when the message of the opera was given to us in a more perfect manner. Nevertheless, Rudolf, Mimì, Marcel, Musette, Schanuard, Colline and the host of say figures surrounding them were present in body as fresh as of yore. Rudolf may have been minus his customary mustache; Marcel may have been painting a futuristic picture (a vase full of flowers and a clock); the moonlight may have been a trifle late in arriving in the first act, but our joy and sorrow and love, born of the sympathy for the characters, was searched out and captured by the haunting impressions of the "Vie de Boheme," with their setting of clinging melodies, and smoothly interpreted by Chevalier Guerrieri at the conductor's desk.

It all begins and ends in a poet's sense, and it has gone half way round the world and is still winning adherents, this poem of the artist's (perhaps, only make-believe artist's) life, written in song and story. The little studio sometimes gets a little dingier; sometimes a little brighter. The Cafe Momus becomes more garish, or more enticing. The story may fall or it may not fall (last night it did) depending on whether the property man had time to get white paper or not, but—and this part of the tale is ever the same—Mimì's death always strikes like a dagger at the heart of Rudolf, and the hearts of most of the audience as well.

TUGS AT HEARTSTRINGS.

This is the very essence of pain, in a way, this little, sad, impressionistic drama, if you happen to let its tug tug at your heartstrings. It is as elemental in its way as is "Madame Butterfly," but it has in it certain qualities which give it a degree of refinement too, despite the shabby surroundings and the sordid roughness of life. It's just that tiny spark of idealism that makes—if only in name—Rudolf a poet; Marcel, a painter; Colline, a philosopher; and Schanuard, a musician, and the two women necessary but troublesome assets of the community.

The action is laid in 1830; that was some eighty-five years before Europe was steeped in blood. The boulevard de Montmartre is perhaps a little queer now, but the "Vie de Boheme" still lives in all its pristine vigor in the Puccini score.

MORE ADEQUATE. The interpretation of the various roles, was as a whole in more adequate hands than we have seen the case at any previous performance. The natural quality of Rudolf's voice lent an appealing quality to her Mimì, although it is not a very firm and true in the softer passages. She acted the role with a touch of naïveté. The impression she made, on the whole, was much better than under the unfavorable auspices of her previous appearance.

Giuseppe Vogliotti showed himself to better advantage in the larger role of Rudolf than in the Duke, presented Tuesday night. Marino Almeto made a capital Marcel, and Lina Reginald gave Musette with a good degree of dash. Schanuard with his Coast Song as ever proved his deserved popularity.

The orchestra showed itself to be more alive to the possibilities of the score than at previous performances. The chorus, as usual, had its difficulties, but a greater appreciation of the too sweet melodiousness of the Verdi work—that is, ordinarily. However, there was a considerable number of may pay the way for a change in this regard.

Mrs. Bernice de Pasquale filled her delayed engagement in the role of Gilda yesterday afternoon at Clune's Auditorium, adding much to the quality of the performance compared with previous ones during the La Scala company's excellent fine impressions. There is such a thing as tradition in the handling of the vocal art of roles in these popular old-time operas. This so-called tradition is as apparent in the phrasing and rendering, not to say, introducing of a cadenza, as it is in the interpretation according to the old school, of a role such as Gilda.

The first feeling one had upon the appearance of Mrs. de Pasquale was that she was a genuine opera singer. Her work bore the stamp of authority only long experience can give.

While she received no encore in the "Caro Nome" number, I believe that this is to be ascribed rather to the marring of the piece by faulty intonations on the part of the orchestra, which had a tendency to throw her off pitch. Her art in coloratura stood out forcefully in the cadenza which has many frills and furbelows on it and a governor of the Elisabeth period. This is rarest art to be sure, as delicate and fragile as it is possible for the vocal art to be, and Mrs. de Pasquale's note may be somewhat lacking, it stands as the ideal of a certain period and is therefore to be respected in its historical aspect and interpretation.

Dadone, despite his appearances on the two previous evenings, sang the role of Rigoletto in a fashion to duplicate the excellent fine impressions he made Tuesday night. His buffoon is a trifle ponderous, but this is forgotten in listening to the artistry of his singing and interpretation.

TODAY'S ATTRACTION. The musical menu of today needs no additions to make it complete. This morning there will be given an inviolable musical-composers' programme at the Friday Morning Club. This afternoon the third symphony concert of the season will be presented at the Clune's Auditorium, featuring the "Symphonie Espagnole" for violin, with Sigmund Beel as soloist. Tillie Koenen will present a programme of lieder tonight at the same auditorium. The opera bill for tonight is "Carmen," with Alice Gentile in the title role.

Important Games for the Club Quintettes.

Several Good Clashes on at the Y.M.C.A.

Staid Whittier has a Couple of Contests.

The basketball contests of today are going to show just where the three L.A.A.C. teams stand when it comes to playing the indoor game.

In the heavyweight division the clubmen come up against the Whittier Crescents, on the club court. As everybody knows, the L.A.A.C. is considerably higher than the Crescents in the standings. The club is tied with Westlake for first place. But these Crescents gave Whittier College an awful walloping, whereas it took a hair-raising rally and three subs for the clubmen to beat the college. And Westlake only won from the Crescents by one lone point, so if the club wins there will be no doubt as to its standing.

PROMISING.
The club lightweight tackle the Y. M.C.A. on the latter's court. The clubmen have already walloped Glendale and U.S.C. The Crescents have won from the Y.M.C.A. This game will show just what chance the clubmen have against Glendale and the rest of the Whittier men.

The class of the bantamweights are Orange and Whittier High. At least that is what everybody says, but Coach Klawans of the club. He is still backing his midge to win. "Ah, they didn't get going against Whittier High, the other night," he explained. "The kids still get fussed in a game. They will show more tonight, however. And Orange only beat Pasadena by one point; remember that."

TWO COURTS.
All of tonight's games in the city will be played at either the L.A.A.C. or the Y.M.C.A. The games at the Y.M.C.A. are the U.S.C. and Y.M.C.A. heavyweight game, the L.A.A.C. and Y.M.C.A. lightweight game, and the McKinley night school and Whittier High, 120-pound game. The games at the club are two, Whittier Crescents and the L.A.A.C. heavyweight, Pasadena High and the L.A.A.C. bantamweights.

There will also be two games at Whittier, one between the Normal and Whittier College heavyweights, the other between the Whittier Crescents and the Glendale lightweight. There will also be another game in the 110-pound class between Glendale High School and Whittier High. The two teams are playing a three-game series. Whittier has already won one game, a victory tonight will clinch the title for the Quakers. When it comes to playing this game of basketball one has to hand it to the Quakers. Co. of the Lincoln High School basketball team, has joined the Y.M.C.A. 145-pound team.

San Diego. Water Traffic Only Way Out.

Relief Parties in Bonts Sent Out from San Diego.

Tia Juana River in Old Channel Wipes Out Ranches.

Race Track Escapes Damage; will Resume Saturday.

San Diego. Jan. 20.—With warm bright sunshine today San Diego county was rapidly recovering from one of the most severe storms in its history. Several lives were lost and thousands of dollars worth of damage done.

In advantage, the storm counts in its favor full reservoirs for the city water system with a supply estimated to be sufficient for six years and a bright prospect for crops.

The city is still cut off from outside traffic except by water, and owing to the destruction of the vegetable gardens by the floods and lack of train service the San Diegians must go without fresh vegetables or fresh milk.

A relief train for the flood sufferers of the Tia Juana valley, including the Little Landers settlement, left here this morning over the San Diego and Arizona line. Tents will be donated for the 100 or more persons in the Little Landers settlement without homes and provisions furnished them.

The bodies of Mrs. Max Kestner and her sister, Miss Kestner, of the Little Landers, who were drowned, have not been recovered and the husband is searching wildly for his dead wife.

San Diego officials state that through service to Los Angeles may not be established before the first of next week, although a "walk over" service will be established in a few days. A train will be sent to Delmar tomorrow.

SENDING RELIEF. The launches Virginia and Golden West will sail with relief for the passengers of the stalled Santa Fe at Oceanside, at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning. More than 100 persons are on the train and provisions have run low. They have been stranded since Monday afternoon.

In the little Mexican town of Tia Juana, which is completely isolated by the water which carried out the bridge, the people are suffering for lack of provisions and shelter. What provisions could be taken were carried to them today by way of a bridge on the San Diego and Arizona road several miles south of the town.

Several Mexicans were seen by race track officials as they were swept down the river, but nothing definite can be learned until communication is restored with the little town. One woman jumped in after her baby as she was being rescued.

Twenty-five years ago the town of Tia Juana was washed away by a flood, but later the river changed its course and people built in the old course of the river. With this storm the river again followed the old course and the farms were washed away.

Strange freaks occurred with the flood. One of the Little Landers houses was carried away for more than a mile by the flood and set down on high ground and not even the lamp on the table had been upset.

The Tia Juana race track was saved by means of a cut in the side which let out the water through a sort of canal. Many of the jockeys and race track men had narrow escapes and suffered for lack of food until supplies were sent down. Manager Jake Holtman himself superintended the work of fighting the flood until yesterday. Races will be resumed Saturday, it is stated by the race track company, which has lost about $5000 from the storm.

FLOATING AUTOS. In a stream of water on the old San Diego and Southeastern road that resembles a river, not far from Nator, is standing a Ford roadster, the seat in water. W. B. Barnes, owner of a cement works, was driving up San Diego Tuesday in the car when he was rescued by men with a boat and abandoned the car.

Several more automobiles that were abandoned were seen along the railroad as the train made its first trip today.

Regular schedule service over the San Diego and Arizona line will be commenced tomorrow between here and Tia Juana.

Heavy snow is on all the mountains around here now. At Cuyamaca there are eight inches and at Julian four inches.

Two tons of first-class mail was sent out on the President going north last night, the first for four days. Second and third class mail will be sent north tomorrow on the Yale.

Charles Hatfield telephoned to the City Hall today that in ten days he will have the Moreno reservoir full and will come to sign up his contract. He has a verbal contract with the City Council now for $10,000 if he causes the reservoir to be filled.

The record rainfall in the county occurred at Warner's, eighty miles from here, where from January 14 to 19 the rainfall was 18.19 inches.

FRANCISCANS CELEBRATE. Erect Province of Santa Barbara with Solemn Ceremonies.

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 19.—The Franciscans formally erected the province of Santa Barbara today with the installation of Provincial Very Rev. Hugoline Storr and his counselors, Theodore Arenas, Serafin Lampe, Maximilian Neumann, Casimir Vogt and Turibius Deaver. The installation services were conducted by Very Rev. Samuel Macle, provincial of the St. Louis province, from which the Santa Barbara province has just been created.

The ceremonies were conducted this morning at the Old Mission and were largely attended. The new provincial and his counselors were escorted to the mission by a long procession of frocked Franciscans, while the chimes of the venerable church pealed forth. Solemn requiem high mass followed the installation. Music was furnished by the Old Mission and St. Anthony College choirs.

Storm Damage.

California shore. No damage whatever was done to the canal or heading. The crest of the flood reached the latter yesterday.

The dam across the river was built last September at a cost of $7000 and was constructed with the knowledge that it would have to be destroyed when the Colorado went on a rampage.

However, according to Col. Holabird, the storing advantages of the dam in the dry months of the early winter are of such great value that it is the best investment the dam will be built and destroyed annually.

The dam is 300 feet in extent and before being driven piled into the river bed, weaving brush in between the openings and then with a suction dredge pouring rocks and gravel back of the dam until a solid wall was obtained. The work is quickly and inexpensively performed and insures an all the year round flow of water for the Imperial Valley.

Some time ago the army and navy board, under whose supervision the dam was constructed, issued an order that the dam be destroyed by the 31st inst., but yesterday the flood assumed such proportions that those in charge decided to touch off the mines and blow the dam to pieces.

It is believed that the flood will pass without serious financial loss to anyone.

BRIDGE IS OUT. PHOENIX CUT OFF.

PHOENIX (ARIZ.) Jan. 20.—Plans made early today to relieve transcontinental traffic congestion on the Santa Fe system at Ashfork, Ariz., where several eastbound passenger trains are blocked by washouts east of Winslow, were abandoned at noon, when it was learned that two spans of the Southern Pacific's steel bridge over the Gila River, twenty-five miles south of Phoenix, had been carried down by the flood. This also cut off Phoenix off from the Southern Pacific's main line, over which it had been arranged to deliver storm-bound Santa Fe trains.

The bridge partially destroyed was built five years ago and upon its completion was said by engineers to be proof against harm from high water. Rain has again begun to fall here.

BUILDING DIKES. (BY A. P. DAY WIRE.) TUCSON (ARIZ.) Jan. 20.—Workmen were piling heavy materials along the Colorado river today to build a dike under bridges across the Rio Hito and Santa Cruz rivers near here today in an effort to prevent them from being carried away by the flood waters.

The water has stopped rising, but rain began falling again before noon and may cause a further increase of danger. Communication between all cities and towns was badly crippled.

STORM CONDITIONS REPORTED IMPROVED.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE.) DENVER (Colo.) Jan. 20.—Indications that the storm of the last few days which has prevailed in Arizona and California is moving eastward were contained in meager reports to the government weather bureau here today.

Wire communication with Arizona points was badly interrupted and in some cases completely cut off by the flood conditions. The last report during the night stated that eleven feet of water were sweeping over the railroads of the Roosevelt dam on Salt River. The rise has ceased, but another was predicted for today. Last night Phoenix reported little property damage and no loss of life.

El Paso reported telephone and telegraph wires down west.

Clear night with the prediction issued by the weather bureau for Arizona, and rain was forecast for South-eastern New Mexico.

COLORADO RIVER'S WATERS ARE RISING.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE.) YUMA (ARIZ.) Jan. 20.—The Colorado River today is twenty-four and one-half-foot stage here at 9 o'clock tonight, and began to rise more rapidly at that hour. It was expected the crest of the flood would reach here before morning. Both the Gila and Salt rivers were reported to be receding at points above here toward Phoenix.

Two spans of the bridge across the Salt River, between Maricopa, Ariz., and Mesa, Ariz., have been washed out. The entire Mohawk Valley was reported to be flooded.

The Gila River was reported to have reached the highest point in many years at Antelope. The waters were touching the girder of the Ocean-to-Ocean highway bridge at that point. Farmers in the Antelope Valley were hastily moving their livestock and household goods to higher ground.

Twenty-five thousand second feet of water was flowing over the Laguna dam, on the Colorado River, twelve miles from the mouth of the Colorado.

More than a hundred men, with teams, were strengthening the government levee, which protects Yuma from flood waters of the Colorado.

West-bound overland passenger trains, which have been halted here since Monday by washouts, left this afternoon for Los Angeles. No rain was falling here tonight.

WATER RECEDING. MORE RAIN COMING.

PHOENIX (ARIZ.) Jan. 20.—Flood waters from the Salt and Gila rivers began to recede from the lowlands today in this vicinity and it was believed that danger of further damage from the storm had been passed. The weather, however, was warmer here, with indications of more rain.

A large force of men was working today to prevent the Center-street and Tempe bridges, weakened by the flood yesterday, from washing out. Sandbags and stone also were being piled along the river to prevent flood waters from sweeping down the irrigation canals and over the farm lands.

Some apprehension was felt for the safety of residents of Buckeye, Arlington and other towns, located between the junction of the Salt and Gila rivers.

Reports from Tempe, southeast of here, stated that the Salt River was threatening the city. Its course, however, was changed by the action of Gov. George W. P. Hunt was requested to send local companies of militia to aid in protecting the banks of the river there, but after a visit to the scene the Governor said that there was no imminent danger of such a break.

THIRTY-FOOT RISE IS NOW ANTICIPATED.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) EL CENTRO, Jan. 20.—Although he did not fear any damage to the Imperial Valley irrigation system from the Colorado River, which was rising rapidly tonight, C. H. Rockwood, chief engineer of the California Development Commission, kept a close watch on the flood situation.

The Colorado has risen seven feet, and further rise of eight or nine feet was expected there before tomorrow morning. This would bring the stage of the river at Yuma to about thirty feet.

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Jan. 20.—Washouts on the main lines of both the Southern Pacific and Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroads have paralyzed traffic between here and the Pacific Coast, it was announced today. Efforts to route delayed Santa Fe trains over the Southern Pacific were blocked by a washout at Tucson. No trains from Los Angeles have reached here since Tuesday.

SNOW IN NEW MEXICO.

EL PASO (TEX.) Jan. 20.—Ten inches of snow in the region about Lordsburg, N. M., destroyed telegraph and telephone wires, completely cut off today all means of communication with Phoenix and Clifton. Ariz. Overland trains from California were reported moving eastward slowly, feeling their way with out orders. There has been no western mail here for three days.

AMBITIOUS. SEAL BEACH PLANS.

TENNIS on Ocean Front Property Offered Out to Make Way for Improvements—Two Big Contracts Let for Amusement.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.) SEAL BEACH, Jan. 20.—Frank Hurl, resort manager, has given notice to all the present tenants on his Seal Beach property to vacate immediately that alterations may be made on the dance hall, bowling alley, cafe and bath-house. Work on the new building will also be started within two weeks.

Two big deals that have actually been consummated thus far in the building of the new Seal Beach are the letting of the contract for the construction of the racing coaster to the Ingersoll Contracting Company of New York, of which Charles Page is the building superintendent; and the awarding of the contract for 370,000 feet of lumber for bulkhead work to the Snow Lumber Company of Long Beach. The lumber will be delivered this week.

A plunge 90x30 feet will be installed in the bath-house, which will also be enlarged for the addition of several hundred dressing-rooms. Another building will be erected to house the bowling alley, the space now taken up by the old equipment having been leased for a cafe.

A big space half a block long will be reserved for picnic parties. A special kitchen where hot coffee and sandwiches may be prepared will be erected for the use of the pleasure-seekers who desire to bring their lunch with them.

TRAMPS CORRALED.

BURBANK, Jan. 20.—Marshal Greenwood took fourteen tramps into custody last evening. They were held at the City Hall under guard from 10 o'clock till this morning, when they were tried before Judge Paxton. Seven were given a ten days' jail sentence and the balance were given a suspended sentence.

Well Known Man Gives Plant Juice Entire Credit for His Recovery to Health.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of stomach trouble. While stomach trouble is among the most common diseases that prevail, it is sometimes the last recognized by patients who very often content themselves with "doctoring" the symptoms, while the original disease may be as plain their very life blood. Plant Juice, the new herbal system tonic, relieves the stomach and its burden, thereby giving it an opportunity to regain its normal strength. Many people are daily demonstrating this fact by actual experience; as is the experience of Mr. Michael Sullivan, who resides at No. 699 Hopkins Street, Buffalo, N. Y., who says:

"I have been troubled with my stomach for some time. My food would ferment in my stomach, causing gases to form, and I would bloat more or less. I was nervous and restless and could not sleep at night. I also had muscular pain in my legs. I had doctor treated steadily for one year and did not get any relief. I had heard about Plant Juice and the cures which were being effected by its use and decided to try it. I have now taken one bottle of the remedy and can eat anything I want to and enjoy my meals. I am no longer restless or nervous, sleep well at night and the pains in my limbs have entirely disappeared. In fact, I can say that I am entirely cured by Plant Juice and I am recommending it to my friends."

Plant Juice is sold in Los Angeles at all OWL DRUG STORES.

LA GRIPPE, COUGHS, BRONCHITIS.

Dr. John M. Mayhew describes influenza and Croup as a contagious disease, the symptoms of which are some times so obscure that a "multitude of sins" are committed. The disease is sometimes on with a marked chill, or possibly by several hours of chilly sensations accompanied by sneezing, which is soon followed by a distressing cough and a watery discharge from the nose. Unless checked the disease develops into pneumonia. First of all the bowels must be kept open. The patient should be put to bed or compelled to take absolute rest in an easy chair, the diet should be light, but should consist of nourishing food and one anti-kamnia tablet should be taken every four hours. The treatment will usually break up the disease in a remarkably short time. In bronchitis, coughs and all other cold conditions, anti-kamnia tablets will always be found of great service. Anti-kamnia tablets may be obtained at all druggists in any quantity. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also useful for headaches, neuralgia and all pains.

FOUR DROWNED, SEVERAL MISSING ON GILA RIVER.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) HAYDEN (ARIZ.) Jan. 20.—Four people were drowned today when the Gila River overflowed its banks and inundated the lower portion of Winkelman, Ariz., according to advices reaching here. Seven others were reported missing.

Fifteen people were marooned on an island formed by the flood waters around Winkelman. They had not been rescued at a late hour today. The strong current made it impossible to launch boats for the purpose of rescuing the marooned party.

Rescue parties were busy throughout the day in this section removing people who had taken refuge in trees to escape the flood waters. More than a hundred people were homeless tonight as a result of the flood.

Flood conditions here were worse than they had been at any other time in the history of the State. Flood rain was still falling and train service was demoralized.

HEAVY FLOOD DAMAGE IN SAN JACINTO VALLEY.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) HEMET, Jan. 20.—The damage by the flood in the Hemet and San Jacinto valleys the past four days is estimated at about $50,000, most of it in and around San Jacinto, where the San Jacinto River broke through and overflowed its banks, flooding the entire country to within a few blocks of the business district of the town.

Densons of houses in the course of the flood waters were totally destroyed and many are yet standing in from four to six feet of water. The San Jacinto domestic water plant is partially under water and the city will be without water for a number of days. No trains have arrived here since Tuesday. Telephone and telegraph connection with the outside world has been cut off until tonight.

The lines of the Southern Pacific, Sierra Power Company between Hemet and San Bernardino were down and the towns this side of Riverside were in total darkness the first of the week.

The San Jacinto River at many points was two miles wide during the storm. The big ranches in the San Jacinto district were covered with several feet of water and a great loss of cattle is reported. The big bridge along the river were taken out Monday and all others have been wrecked to the extent that they are unsafe. It will be practically impossible to get from this section to Los Angeles until the last of the week.

Bridges are not only out, but the concrete highway in hundreds of places is under several feet of water and the roadbed is said to be undermined. The damage to roads in this section was stated by Supervisor Shaver to be terrible and it will cost Riverside county more than $10,000 to again put them in good condition.

On the Hemet tract many of the orange groves and deciduous orchards are said to have been washed and a big loss incurred to the owner. Lake Hemet is higher than ever before recorded and the twenty-four inches of water running over the Hemet dam Tuesday was more than at any time since the construction of this mammoth piece of masonry in 1887.

MAYOR'S FIRST VETO.
ON ROLLER TOWEL BAN.

Mayor Sebastian sent his first veto to the City Council yesterday, when

He returned the antislurrier tower ordinance without his signature—but the Mayor's veto does not close the incident, according to Councilwoman Lindsey, "father" of the ordinance. The Mayor's reasons for his veto, as set forth in his letter to the Council, are:

Paper towels, which would be the substitute, are combustible material, and I believe their use and collection in closets and such places would be a fire menace.

After careful investigation, I learn that a passage of such an ordinance would, of necessity, deprive a large number of individuals of employment in laundries, etc.

The majority of our office building would be put to additional expense to meet the requirements of this new ordinance. I have learned that in some instances office building expenses were $80 a month and maintenance was also adopted. An additional clerk in the City Engineer's office at $100 a month.
